mount and frame these portraits for our patrons in the best style at one-fourth the usual cost of such frames.
You can have either gilt or bronze frame with first-class French plate glass, all ready to hang on the wall.

YOU ARE, HOWEVER, NOT OBLIGED to purchase a frame at all,
or you can purchase it at some other give you the picture and sell you the frame at cost if you wish it.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Votes Taken on the Original Package Bill.

Arrest of a Suspected Stage
Robber.

Congressional Matters.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Immediately
after the reading of the journal voting began on the original package bill.
The first vote was on the Adams substitute, defining an original package—
lost, 33 to 115.

The House then proceeded to vote on the House substitute for the Senate bill. The following is the House measure:

"That whenever any article of commerce is imported into any State from any other State, territory or foreign nation, and there held or offered for sale, the same shall then be subject to the laws of such State; provided, no discrimination shall be made by any State in favor of its citizens against those of other States in respect to the sale of any article of commerce, nor in favor of its own products against those of a like character produced in other States, or Territories, nor shall the transportation of commerce through any State be obstructed, except so far as may be necessary for the enforcement of the laws of such State."

As the vote progressed, it was evident the result would be very doubtful, and great interest was manifested. At the end of the first call the affirmative
had a majority of one, and at the end of the second call the majority was neither increased nor diminished.

Then came a change of votes—fully two dozen changes being made—and in the alterations the affirmative came out triumphant—yeas 109, nays 94.

Then Grosvener of Ohio, who had changed his vote for that purpose,
moved a reconsideration.

Frank of Missouri moved to table
that motion.

The motion to table was agreed to,
yeas 118, nays 95. The vote then returned on the passage of the Senate bill as amended, which passed, yeas 176, nays 38. Those voting in the negative were Abbott, Adams, Breckinridge (Ark.), Breckinridge (Ky.),
Carter, Caruth, Chapman, Clunie,
Crain, Culbertson (Tex.), Cummings,
Duneshy, Foreman, Fowler, Frank,
Hayes, Lansam, Lawler, Lehlbach,
Martin (Tex.), Mason, McAdoo, Mc-Carthy, Mutchler, O'Neil (Mass.),
Olthwait, Quinn, Richardson, Sayres,
Stewart (Tex.), Taylor (Ill.), Turner
(N. Y.), Van Schaick, Vaux, Whitthorne, Wike and Wiley.

A conference with the Senate was asked for, and the House proceeded to the consideration of the bankruptcy
bill.

SENATE.
The Senate bill giving a pension of $2,000 a year to Mrs. Jessie Fremont was reported from the Committee on Pensions and placed on the calendar.
The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Indian appropriation
bill.

to the widow of General George B.

A Suspected Stage Robber.

STOCKTON (Cal.), July 22.—A young
farm laborer named Charles Brown, about 24 years of age, was brought here Sunday night by Constable Dial
of Lockford and Sheriff Cunningham, and locked up on suspicion of being the man who robbed the Mokelumne Hill and Valley Springs stage last week. Brown has been working off and on in the vicinity of Clements, this county, for several months, claiming to have lately arrived in California from Arkansas. He was away several days last week at the time the robbery was committed, and returned to the ranch a day or two before being arrested. He says he is in Stockton at the time of the robbery, but the officers believe they have enough evidence against him to warrant holding him. Sheriff Thorn of Calaveras arrived to-day and found the prisoner answered the description of the man whom he tracked for several miles from the scene of the robbery.

As the United States mail was robbed, the reward for the man who held up the stage is $1,000.

LINKVILLE (Ore.), July 21.—George Goodlow was shot and instantly killed
last evening by John Shook at a dairy twenty miles east of here. The men had a quarrel about some cattle a few days ago. Goodlow yesterday, while under the influence of liquor, went to Shook's house with a revolver in his hand and said he wanted to kill Shook. The latter drew a revolver and they fired simultaneously, one bullet entering Goodlow's breast, just over the heart, and he died in a short time. Shook surrendered himself to Sheriff. The shooting has caused considerable excitement, and threats of lynching are made by the friends of the dead man.

Hunted by Molten Iron.

MILWAUKEE, July 22.—Bay View
was shaken up shortly after 1 o'clock this morning by an explosion of such terrific force that people of that suburb jumped from their beds, believing their houses were being rocked by an earthquake. The concussion due to an explosion resulting from the leakage of molten iron from a blast furnace in the rolling mills. A large number of men were around the furnace at the time, but only one, Joseph Lewis, was hurt. He was caught by a flood of molten iron and burned until the flesh dropped from his body. He still lives but there is little hope of his recovery.

the directors of the mine, who, it is

SAN JUAN DE COSTA RICA, July 22.—
The notorious bandit of San Salvador, Hernandezillo Chaves, who for the past five years has made traveling dangerous on the roads leading into La Libertad, has been arrested, tried, convicted, and sentenced to be shot. He was tracked to his lair by a boy of 17,
whose mother he maltreated, robbed and killed, and discovered to the troops, by whom he was surrounded,
with two of his companions, and captured.

were killed.

War to the Knife.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 22.—A Victoria,
B. C., special says: It is now definitely settled that the Pacific Mail and Occidental & Oriental Steamship Companies mean war to the knife against the Canadian Pacific.

George H. Rice, Traffic Manager of the first-named company is in Victoria making arrangements to begin the fight on their behalf.

The Canadian Pacific first declared its intention of running its China steamers to and from the east by way of San Francisco, and has carried out its threat by taking freight and passengers for that point by the Abyssinia,
which will arrive there about the end of August. She will be followed by the entire Canadian Pacific fleet in turn. To meet this the American corporations have determined to invade Canada.

Rice says: "I am in Victoria now
for the purpose of arranging to run
the China steamers of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company from San Francisco by way either of Tacoma or Victoria. The probabilities are that Victoria will be the point, at least for the present. If your big wharf is soon completed I will decide at once, and probably appoint agents in this city
before I leave here."

The first steamer, which will be the China, will arrive here from San Francisco about August 24, for China and Japan. The first steamer from the other side will leave Hongkong today for Victoria. She is the City of Peking, and has engaged both passengers and cargo for Victoria and Sound ports. We do not intend to do any business with our steamers between Victoria and San Francisco, as our relations with the Pacific Coast Steamship Company are most cordial. As far as regards the Canadian Pacific, we expect before that line gets its new steamships to get a good hold on the business. We shall take no overland business over the Canadian Pacific, but will send our business over the Northern Pacific and Oregon Short Line.
What the policy of the Canadian Pacific will be is uncertain. Their new steamers for that line, which are soon to be placed on the eastern route, are rapidly approaching completion in the British dock yards. The contract requires the vessels to develop a speed of 18 knots on trial and 16½ knots on a 300-mile sea-trip. It is confidently expected by the builders that this will be exceeded. No expense is being spared to make these vessels in every respect equal to the finest vessels afloat.

Differences Adjusted.

By Associated Press.
TOPEKA, July 22.—The conference
between the Santa Fe general officers and the Trainmen's Grievance Committee yesterday was fruitful in its results. It has been practically agreed to abolish the classification of passenger coaches on the entire system; to give the uniform pay of $125 per month, without regard to length of service; to pay for the losses of the trainmen on account of delays occasioned by anything beyond their control; to pay for time lost where men were called upon to report for duty and are not sent out at once; and to pay for 100 miles on all runs of less than 100 miles. These concessions are nearly all made by the company. In most cases where demands were made for an increase of pay on local runs the men have withdrawn their demands.

Honestly Stated.

Under the heading "The Democratic Silver Policy and Cleveland," the Baltimore Sun, one of the most influential Democratic papers published in the United States, observes that "the line of action recently pursued by the Democrats of the House and Senate in regard to free coinage is sufficiently explained, perhaps, by the widely received parliamentary maxim that 'the duty of the opposition is to oppose,' and the Sun goes on to say: 'It will not do, in a word, to take the present action of the Democrats of the House and Senate in regard to silver too seriously. The definition of the silver policy of the Democratic party, everybody knows, is for the present in other hands. Mr. Cleveland is beyond question the choice of the Democracy for 1892, and his views in regard to free coinage of standard silver dollars have been tacitly accepted by the party everywhere. Early in 1885, before he entered the White House, President Cleveland declared himself opposed to silver inflation. He declared for a suspension of the coinage of light-weight seventy-two cent dollars, and maintained this position to the end of his term. Knowing Mr. Cleveland's policy on this subject, the Democracy want him re-elected—which is in effect a declaration of the party against free coinage. The real live issues of the present, as defined by Mr. Cleveland and accepted by the popular voice, are tariff reform, ballot reform and the civil service reform. In leaving silver in the background, Mr. Cleveland undoubtedly represents the masses of his party much better than the Democratic Congressmen do, for it must be admitted that what the average Congressman represents, in Washington, is not the quiet conviction of the majority of his supporters, but the ideas and interest of the loud-mouthed and aggressive few. The hobby-rider or self-seeking constituents especially if organized and menacing, exercises an influence upon Congressional legislation out of all proportion to its merit. Hence, we say, the utterances of Democratic Congressmen on the silver question are of slight importance, and it is to the popularity of Mr. Cleveland that we must look for a Democratic policy. If elected to the Presidency again, Mr. Cleveland will reassert his views in regard to silver, and the Democratic majority in the House will respect them as authoritative, as it did from 1884 to 1888."

The Sacramento Bee and several Nevada papers are using the same quill on the lottery question, claiming that inasmuch as Nevada is disgraced by having a law on her statute book licensing gambling, she should at once engage in that other infamous deal, the lottery.

The attention of the Silver State and Eureka Sentinel is respectfully called to an editorial extract from the Baltimore Sun in to-day's GAZETTE.

NEWS NOTES.

Incidencies are charged with originating recent fires at Spokane Falls. C. C. Rose, an old resident of Hollister, Cal., hanged himself Saturday night. Harry Cummings, night clerk at the Willis House at Seattle, has disappeared with $241, entrusted to him by a guest. The body of Charles Dupries, a Frenchman, was found hanging in the Opera House at Hillsborough, Or., Sunday morning. Whale bones were found on the ranch of R. D. Sepulveda, one mile and a quarter from San Pedro and 200 feet above sea-level. The first carload of Columbia river sturgeon of this season was shipped to New York last Sunday from Portland by C. B. Trencott, who has many tons of the fish packed and frozen in a cold-storage warehouse. General Miles has gone to Nogales to arrange with the Mexican authorities the details of any agreement which may be made with Mexico concerning the crossing of the line while in pursuit of roving Indians. The Oregon Short Line and Utah Northern are sued at the The Dalles for $125,000 by four of the wounded and the relatives of the five men who were killed by the falling of a car through a bridge at the Cascades last February.

PARAGRAPHSIC PLUNDER.

A CHICAGO girl procured two marriage licenses the other day. She married one of the young men and will be a sister to the other. THERE is talk of a Southern watermelon trust. Like most organizations of this kind it will soon engender internal dissensions. A BARBER in Wellington, Kan., has put out his sign as follows: "We are here to stay. No favoritism shown; clean towels used on every customer." "PLEASE excuse Alfred for being late," wrote a Biddeford mother to her boy's teacher, adding in an explanatory way: "He had shad for dinner."

THERE are 2,700 courts in the United States engaged in granting divorces; but, on the other hand, there are millions of courts which mean marriage in the near future.

A WESTERN Massachusetts dentist is said to have a small boy sit in his office and yell at the top of his lungs occasionally. It lends an air of business to the establishment. EXHIBITORS who won medals at the Paris exposition are receiving diplomas specifying the class of medals to which they are entitled. If they want the medal they can get it for spot cash, ranging from about $133 for gold ones to less than $1 for silver ones in bronze.

An exchange says: "Now is the time to darn your hammocks." Many people "darn" their hammocks when they break down and many others use a still stronger expetive at such times. It depends upon the force with which the occupant of the hammock strikes the earth.

At Saco, Me., the other evening, a party who had spent an hour and a half in serenading a newly-married couple and vainly trying to get the groom to respond, were at last thanked for their music by the bridegroom's father, who informed them that his son and daughter-in-law were in a neighboring village. THE Norristown Herald has heard of a third-rate show, consisting of a clown, eight horses, six performers and two leonardo and peanut vendors, which goes by the grandiloquent name of "Blank's Triple Behemoth Unsurpassed Shows, Wild West Amphitheatre, Renowned Circus and Marvelous Equestrianism."

NATURE plays queer freaks with the flower seeds sent out by the Agricultural Department at Washington. A man who received a package of seeds labeled "giant pansy," planted them in a flower-bed and soon had a small crop of turnips, while a number of seeds labeled "double pinks" produced long-neck squashes.

THE whole secret of the Keely motor has been explained by the inventor himself. What can be more lucid than the following: "There is a triplicate sympathetic order of vibration diverting the positive and negative currents to one general polarized center; this rotary action is continuous when sympathetically associated with the polar stream."

A VENERABLE and pious-looking colored man, who might be a church deacon, was doing in a car of the sixth avenue elevated road the other evening, when one of the passengers loudly uttered the magic numbers: "Four—eleven—forty-four."

The sleeping negro started up, as if touched by a live wire, gazed vacantly around, remembered in a moment where he was, looked sheepish, and dropped off to sleep again.

POINTS OF INFORMATION.

It takes about three seconds for a message to go from one end of the Atlantic cable to the other. A HORSE walking at a smart pace strikes the ground with a force equal to a ton every time he puts down his fore-foot. Of the four generally used points only the period (.) dates earlier than the fifteenth century. The colon (:) is said to have been first introduced about 1485, the comma (,) some thirty-five years later, and the semi-colon (;) about 1570. AMBERGRIS, from which many perfumes are made, and which is sometimes used to flavor wine, is merely the morbid secretion of the liver of a sick sperm whale. It is a fatty, waxy substance, disagreeable to sight or touch, but even in its crude state ex-haling a pleasant odor.

VIKING is a name given to the piratical Northmen who infested the coasts of the British Islands and other localities in the eighth, ninth and tenth centuries. The word is derived from the Scandinavian rik, a bay, and those men were so called because their ships put off, not like kings' ships, from the harbor, but from the bay.

THE training of carrier pigeons begins as soon as they are strong enough to fly. The young birds are taken in a covered basket to a place about half a mile from their home, and set free. Those who do not go home are considered worthless; those which do so once are tried again, the distance being increased each time, until it is found that they will go back, no matter how far they may be carried. The messages conveyed by these birds are usually written or photographed on very thin paper, and tied around the leg or one of the tail-feathers in such a manner that they do not impeded the flight of the birds.

THE name William was not at first given to children; it was a name conferred upon a man as a reward of merit. When the ancient Germans fought with the Romans, the Germans were armed only with light weapons, swords, spears, shields, etc., and if a German killed on the field a well-armed Roman, wearing a gilded helmet, the helmet was set on the head of the brave German who had slain its owner, who ever after was known as Gildhelm, or, as we would say, Golden Helmet. Among the Franks, the name was Guld-helme, and with the French, Guilheume, afterward Guillaume, and with the Latin-speaking nations, Gullielmus. Finally, the French Guillaume became English William.

Length of a Degree. The length of a degree of longitude at the equator is 69 1-16 statute miles. At the 30th degree of latitude it is 63 1/2 miles. At the 50th degree of latitude it is 44 1/2 miles. At the 75th degree it is hardly 18 miles. At the 82d degree of latitude it lacks 47 of a mile of being 10 miles. At the 89th degree it is but 1 1/8 miles, and gradually draws to a point as the line nears the pole.

Steady Progress

Has characterized Hood's Sarsaparilla ever since it was placed before the public. Wherever introduced, its sales have grown from year to year, until now it is the most popular and most successful medicine offered. Any druggist will confirm this statement. The secret of this success lies in the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a medicine of merit. It does actually accomplish all that is claimed for it, and when given a fair trial, is reasonably certain to be of benefit.

Positive Statements. "Since Hood's Sarsaparilla has been in my hands for sale I have had frequent and unreserved testimonials in its favor. Although carrying this preparation for less than one year, my sales have been greater than of any similar preparation, and the testimonials in its favor are at once positive and personally noticeable." A. WAGNER, Hallsburg, Cal.

Sells On Its Merits. "My boys say, 'Papa, why don't you buy more of Hood's Sarsaparilla at a time; we are always short.' It sells on its own merits." F. EAST, Portland, Oregon; the oldest druggist in Oregon.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and in its effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Elys is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

An Old Soldier's Story.

In the late war I was a soldier in the First Maryland Volunteers, Company G. During my term of service I contracted chronic diarrhoea, since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and it will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow. I take pleasure in recommending this preparation to all of my old comrades, who, while giving their service to their country, contracted this dreadful disease as I did, from eating unwholesome and uncooked food. It affords me pleasure to render suffering humanity any good that I can, and I wish to say that I think it is the best blood, kidney and liver medicine in the world. E. LARZILLERE, agent M. C. R. Unpleasantness Avoided. Several months ago, Mr. Henry Plummer of Clements, Cal., who is subject to cramps, was taken with a severe attack. He had been accustomed to get relief by dosing with morphine, but the disagreeable effect that followed would make him miserable for hours after the cramps had been relieved. I persuaded him to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He was much pleased with its effect as it was almost instantaneous, and no disagreeable after effects accompanied its use. THE COMSTOCK TRAGEDY.

Full Particulars of the Murder of William Nichols.

The Virginia Chronicle of the 21st inst. says: At the Savage hoisting works last night, about three-quarters of a hour after the 11 o'clock shift was lowered in the shaft, engineer Golding received a three bell signal indicating that men were on the cage who desired to ascend. When the cage reached the surface James Hoban and James Shaughnessy stepped from the deck and went back to the engineer's station, and Hoban said that Nichols, the shift boss, had been killed by Patrick Crowley, who struck Nichols with an ax.

Superintendent Keating was immediately notified, as were also the police and Officer James Weir, James Grant, foreman of the Savage mine, Thomas Pearce and Luke Quinlan were lowered down to the 1200 level shaft station. Crowley was there and Officer Weir told him to get on the cage. Crowley did so and was hoisted to the surface in the custody of the men named above, and after changing his clothes was handcuffed and taken to the County Jail. The cage was then dropped down again to the 1200 level with Foreman Grant, Luke Quinlan and others on board for the purpose of bringing the body of Nichols to the surface.

A short time afterward a signal to hoist was again given, and when the cage reached the surface Foreman Grant reported that Nichols' body was not on the 1200 level station and that a plank had been removed from the platform across the shaft at that station, indicating that Nichols' body had been dumped into the shaft by Crowley.

As the shaft is not in condition to lower a cage below the 1200 level, ropemen were sent for and rigged a purchase for hoisting and lowering below that level with a rope. A man was then lowered, and found the dead body of Nichols lying on the 1300 level. After it was brought to the surface it was ascertained that there was a cut extending from the eye backward along the side of the skull above the ear, fully eight inches in length, which was evidently the mark of the fatal blow struck with the ax in Crowley's hands. The blade, or poll of the ax, had cut or crushed through the eye socket. The top of Nichols' skull was also slightly crushed by his striking on his head when thrown down the shaft after the fatal blow.

James Shaughnessy and James Hoban, the only witnesses of the terrible underground tragedy, were called into the foreman's office at the Savage hoisting works by Superintendent Keating, and, in the presence of a Chronicle representative, Shaughnessy made the following statement of the killing of Nichols: "I was kicking William Nichols, shift boss, James Hoban, Patrick Crowley and myself had just been lowered to the 1200-station on the 11 p. m. shift."

After being landed on the platform placed across the shaft on that level for repairing the timbering, Nichols remarked that the foreman was kicking because that shift was not doing enough work. Hoban replied that he wished the foreman would put them in the mine instead of keeping them on shaft repairs. Words followed between Nichols and Crowley, when Shaughnessy says he heard a blow, and, looking around, saw Nichols drop on the platform from the blow of an ax in the hands of Crowley.

Shaughnessy, Hoban and Crowley boarded the cage, and Shaughnessy gave the signal to hoist by ringing three bells, indicating that men were on the cage. Crowley immediately rang one bell, the signal to stop the cage, and, seizing Shaughnessy, threw him against a wall plate of the shaft, forbidding him to ring the cage to the surface. Shortly afterward Crowley left the cage and descended to the 1200 level.

Shaughnessy and Hoban, fearing that Crowley would return and probably kill them, ascended to the 1000 level of the shaft by the ladders, and rang the cage up to that station, cutting the bell line below that point to prevent Crowley from ringing the cage back again. When the cage began to ascend, Shaughnessy and Hoban were in mortal dread that Crowley would be on board of it, but were overjoyed, when the cage reached the station, to find it unoccupied.

This morning Mr. Shaughnessy made the following corrections in the above statement: After Crowley struck Nichols the fatal blow, Shaughnessy and Hoban boarded the cage, swinging in the shaft above them, and Crowley followed them. Shaughnessy rang three bells, the signal to hoist, and Crowley immediately rang one bell, the signal to stop. It was then that Crowley seized Shaughnessy by the throat and pinned him against the wall-plate, threatening to hurt him if he again attempted to ring the bell to hoist the cage. After some persuasion Crowley agreed to ring the cage up to the 1000 level station, where the cage remained for fully half an hour. Crowley still having the ax on the cage with which he killed Nichols. Hoban tried to persuade Crowley to ring the cage up to the 600-level on the pretense that he (Hoban) was choking with thirst.

Suddenly an idea seemed to strike Crowley and he boarded the cage and rang it down to the 1200 level again. As soon as it began descending Shaughnessy and Hoban seized their ladders and began scrambling up the ladders to the 800 level, which they reached after more than once narrowly escaping falling down the shaft. When they reached the 800 level they heard Crowley hammering at something on the 1200 level, and Shaughnessy, after ringing the cage up to the 800 level station, took a turn around a bolt with the bell line to prevent Crowley from giving the signal to stop from below.

Mr. Shaughnessy says he cannot remember the conversation while they were at the 1000 level station, but that Crowley was talking wildly all of the time and Hoban and himself were in mortal terror that Crowley would kill them. The above statement was read to Mr. Hoban, who says it is about as near a correct narrative of the tragedy as could be given.

Mr. Hoban further stated that while they were on the 1000 level station, after the killing, Crowley, among other things, said, "We've got to fix this up somehow," and proposed to Hoban and Shaughnessy to go down to the 1200 level with him. This they refused to do, Hoban saying that he would not go down there again for the mine. Crowley then said, "I'll go down myself," and the hammering heard after he got on the 1200 station is supposed to have been caused by Crowley knocking one of the planks loose from the platform to dump Nichols' dead body down the shaft.

Nichols was a native of Cornwall, England, about 45 years of age. He leaves a wife and five children. Deceased was a member of Comstock Council No. 1, Order of Chosen Friends, from whom his family will receive $3,000. He was also a member of Triumph Lodge No. 3, I. O. O. F., the Virginia Miners' Union and Cara's cornet band.

Patrick Crowley is a native of Ireland, about 29 years of age. He has no relatives here, but has two brothers in San Francisco. He has resided on the Comstock about three years and has been almost steadily employed in the mines. His reputation heretofore has been that of a great big whole-souled young man who is not suspected would harm a fellow-being.

PAIN IN AMPUTATED LIMBS.

An Incident in the Practice of the Late Dr. McMeans.

The San Francisco Examiner lately contained an account of a man feeling pain in an amputated limb. While to many the idea might seem preposterous, such occurrences are recognized and frequent in the medical profession. A number of years ago before Dr. McMeans' death, a miner had his foot so badly mangled as to necessitate amputation. A reporter of the Virginia Chronicle visited the doctor's office and found him dissecting the amputated foot. During the operation a patient entered and the doctor thrust his scalpel through the foot and placed the dismembered member in a bottom bureau drawer. Outside of his office a messenger arrived from the injured miner stating that he was in extreme pain, which he felt in the amputated foot. It felt as though a knife were sticking in it and the toes were all cramped up. The doctor opened the bureau drawer and found the toes all cramped up in a corner and the knife as he had thrust it after using, and on visiting his patient shortly after, found him entirely at ease. Legless people frequently feel rheumatic pains in their dismembered limbs, and this, with other associated facts, are adduced as evidence of the mysterious connection between mind and matter and the existence of a soul in the human frame.

Dangerous Plaything. Four boys—Con Murphy, his cousins, Patrick and Daniel Murphy, and John Calahan—were blown up by giant powder near Butte, Mont., Sunday, and the first-named was so badly injured that his life is in jeopardy.

The boys had three sticks of giant powder and had prepared to fire them off to make a big noise and create a sensation. The fuse was cut too short and an explosion followed before the powder had been thrown into the proposed receptacle, a prospect hole.

A Runaway Incident.

A runaway accident occurred near the English Mill yesterday. Two men named Andy McWilliams and George Milner were driving in a road-cart, when the horses took fright, throwing them violently to the ground and bruising them considerably. Fortunately the level character of the country precluded any serious mishap.

Rob Violence Feared.

The public feeling over the killing of Nichols in the Savage mine ran extremely high in Virginia City last evening. So intense was the excitement, though subdued, that the officers feared mob violence might be attempted, and they quietly transferred Crowley to a buggy and took him to the State Prison for safe keeping, and he will be kept there until the public excitement subsides.

Independence Lake.

This resort appears to be the favorite this season for trout fishing. The hotel is again opened and newly furnished in all its departments, together with new and safe boats and moderate hotel bills. For quiet comfort and health, good sport in hunting and fishing in a beautiful location, there is no place in the mountains more desirable.

THIRTY YEARS' PRACTICE.

A Letter from an Eminent Physician.

MR. EDITOR: At the risk of incurring a proprietary preparation, I have a few words in favor of a new laxative principle. But first, how I came to discover it. A patient asked about taking Jory's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. As sarsaparilla usually contains mercury or iodides I objected, and asked for the formula, which finding purely vegetable, and so mild as to be to my mind almost inert, I consented. Imagine my astonishment when perfect laxative action was reported. It has two great points. First, being purely vegetable, it is (unlike mercury) not cumulative in the system, being easily carried off by the digestive processes; and second, it is effective with a less quantity of the cathartic principle than has hitherto been attainable. It is in this respect ranks as a discovery, and approaches the ideal, viz: the least medicine consistent with the greatest good. It harmonizes natural laxative action and perfect safety, and should interest both the public and the profession. A CITY PHYSICIAN OF THIRTY YEARS' PRACTICE. San Francisco Examiner, March 10, 1890.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made." Jesse Middewort, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of lung troubles; was given up by doctors; am now a best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at Finner's drug store.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION!

At a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee of Nevada, held this day, it was ordered that a

Be held at.....

VIRGINIA CITY,

Thursday, Sept. 4, 1890,

- Four Judges of the District Court.
- Two Members of Board of Regents State University.
- Also for the appointment of a State Central Committee.

The basis of representation of the respective counties in the said convention shall be one delegate for each 100 votes, and one for each fraction of 100 votes or over cast for the majority. Mr. Norton elector, apportioned as follows:

Churchill county	2
Douglas	2
Elko	1
Esmeralda	1
Harvey	1
Lincoln	1
Lyon	1
Ormsby	1
Washoe	1
White Pine	1
Total	146

The several Republican County Central Committees will call a

PRIMARY ELECTION

Of the People on Saturday, Aug. 16, 1890,

For the purpose of electing delegates to the said State Convention, the Primary Elections to be carried out in compliance with the laws of the State and the instructions of the committee.

The following test will be required of each and every voter at the said Primary elections: "I am a citizen of this State and will support the nominees of the Republican party."

The following Resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this committee reaffirms its State and National Republican platform for 1888, including the declaration that the Republican party is in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money; and that it, "condemns all efforts to demonetize silver."

Resolved, That the persistent neglect of a currency window to increase the volume of silver to the maximum of four million dollars per month, coupled with his attempt to influence Congressional legislation so as to perpetuate silver demonetization, is a shameful violation of the silver plank of the National Republican platform, an attack on the rights and interests of the miners, farmers and workers of the land, and an act of party perfidy that should call for his retirement from the councils of an administration which is pledged to help and not hinder the demonetization of silver.

Resolved, That the Republican party is in favor of free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver; that it holds to this principle as a test of party faith and a test of party allegiance; that it will permit of no abandonment or modification of this doctrine; that let whoever will prove recreant to the principle of bimetallicism, it will stand fast, and that it invites all voters in Nevada who favor the repeal of the infamous international law of 1873 by which silver was demonetized, and who desire the establishment of free and unlimited coinage as the law of the United States of America, to join in electing delegates to a Republican State Convention.

THE LITERARY WORLD.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY'S poems bring him from twenty-five to fifty dollars each.

PRINCE BISMARCK has declined numerous offers from English and American publishers for his memoirs.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES believes in reading many books by proxy, particularly the big, thick volumes printed in small type.

EDMUND GOSSE, the famous English critic, says of Tolstol's last novel, "Kreutzer Sonata," that it is a book which no sane man should have written. All England professes to be horrified by the book.

LORD TENNYSON has yielded to a request to recite his "Charge of the Light Brigade" and parts of "The Princess" in an Edison Phonograph. His son says the tones of the poet's voice as heard through the tubes were reproduced with startling fidelity.

ALL France is laughing over the following announcement that lately appeared in one of the journals: "M. Ernest Zola, inventor of the spring handcuffs, notifies his customers that he has nothing in common with his namesake, Emil Zola, writer."

LORD COLERIDGE doesn't like the editor of the present day. He thinks the editor doesn't know much. "In former times," he asserts, "knowledge was wider, deeper and more exact, and imparted with much more force, width and power than in the present day."

MR. W. D. HOWELLS said lately to a friend in speaking of Henry James' stories: "I hesitated and debated a long time before I accepted them, because I did not think they would be popular. However, I've never been wrong. I didn't send them back, as I was more than half inclined to do at one time."

MR. GLADSTONE is said to be a confirmed "book-staller." To escape being mobbed when on his excursions "the seediest of coats and hats are usually brought into use." Only a few weeks ago, when so disguised, he spent considerable time in selecting a number of volumes from a stand in New Oxford street, London, without being recognized.

LUDOVIC HALEVY, member of the French Academy and author of many successful books and plays, says that his daughter lamented to him that she had never read a line that he had written, for the parental edict had gone forth to that effect. Moved by her complaints, he set himself to write a story for her special behoof, and the result was "The Abbe Constantine."

OLIVE LOGAN, who now lives in London, has been chosen a member of a Society of Authors, of which Tennyson is the president and Walter Besant the secretary. This society gave a dinner to Mrs. Burnett when she achieved her triumph in the Faulstich litigation. Olive Logan was present and made a little speech, which, it is said, created such a favorable impression that she was elected to membership at the first vacancy.

AUSTIN DONSON, the poet, was born in Plymouth, England, in 1840, and was intended to be an engineer. At least that is what his parents, not nature, had planned for him. At the age of sixteen, however, he entered the civil service, and soon after began writing. Mr. Donson's prose writings, chiefly studies of eighteenth century literature, are noteworthy for careful research and a finished style that show the result of having written much polished verse.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

THE world is his who can see through its pretension.

Much time is necessary to know people thoroughly.

ANGER makes dull men witty but keeps them poor.

MAN is cold as ice to truth; but hot as fire to falsehood.

Most people would succeed in small things if they were not troubled with great ambitions.

Good fortune seldom comes pure and single, unattended by some troublesome or unexpected circumstance.

In art, oratory, music, mere loudness or demonstration is not a sign of strength; it is rather proof of weakness.

A pompous man, when he smiles at a jest, takes more credit to himself for his appreciation of the joke than he allows to the wit for uttering it.

The living get credit for what they might be quite as much as for what they are. Posterity judges a man by the best rather than the average of his attainments.

WHEN we have reached middle life we say of ourselves, if only we had our lives to live over again. The wish is an idle one, but it is left to us to make a good use of the years that remain to us. Whether many or few, they may be honorable.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

ANNIE JENNESS MILLER is an advocate of complete rest, and part of each week gives her body and mind as nearly nothing to do as is possible.

STANLEY's talent for description has an example in his reference to Emin Pasha the other day, in a London speech, as "small, fair, spectacled, fezzed, undecided, and dressed in immaculate white."

BISMARCK, in a recent interview with a French journalist, said that "he had been forced to retire at seventy, but that he was too young to do nothing; and was accustomed to politics and now felt the lack of political business."

ZORILLA, the most popular Spanish Republican is living quietly in Paris. He lives in furnished lodgings and never goes into society. He has been fifteen years in exile, but has never lost, for a moment, faith in the ultimate triumph of his crusade.

MISCELLANEOUS.

will, are to be disposed of and the proceeds given to charity.

Mrs. OSCAR WILLY, Mrs. Alma-Tadema, and several titled ladies in London have organized an association whose business it is to supply tasteful and well-made outfits for children and young girls, and to furnish regular employment to gentlewomen of narrow means, who do all the needlework.

An American woman sculptor, probably either Miss Harriet Hosmer or Miss Anne Whitney, will be asked to make the portrait bust of Susan B. Anthony the result of Miss Frances E. Willard's movement to have the champion of the quality of women represented in this way at the world's fair.

HERE are some interesting opinions from Mr. Gladstone: "The three handsomest men of their time were the late Duke of Hamilton, Sidney Herbert and Cardinal Manning; the three most naturally eloquent speakers of their day, the Duke of Argyll, the late Lord Elgin and Bishop Wilberforce. Lord Beaconsfield was the most interesting political character of this century, not excepting Mr. Pitt."

THE Duke of Orleans has plenty of nerve. His family has an idea that while he is in prison he ought to be completing his education, and so the other day they sent one of the most serious members of the Orleans party to see him. The young Duke listened awhile to the old gentleman's talk about constitutional law, the Egyptian debt, etc.; then, suddenly clapping him on the back, he said: "I say, old fellow, let's have a game of cards."

RELATED OF ROYALTY.

THE Sultan is the latest European celebrity to suffer from obesity.

THE Queen of the Belgians is one of the best equestrians in that country, and can drive a six-in-hand with grace and safety.

THE young Emperor of Berlin puts on his visiting cards in plain Gothic letters, "Wilhelm, German Emperor and King of Prussia."

PRINCE RUPPRECHT, of Bavaria, has begun his studies at the University of Berlin—the first Prince of a reigning house to enter that institution.

MARGARET OF SAVOY, the silver-haired duchess dowager of Genoa, mother of the Queen of Italy, despite her age and rank, walks to church like the poorest working woman of the town.

VICTORIA, sister to the German Emperor, has announced her intention of never marrying. She has made application for a sufficient allowance out of which to establish a household for herself.

QUEEN VICTORIA has become so lame that she has given up her habit of standing after dinner in the gallery at Windsor, and as soon as she enters the drawing-room a chair is brought and she sits down.

PRINCESS PAULINE METTERNICH is a clever amateur actress. At a performance in Vienna she walked about among the audience in the costume of a washerwoman, "receiving compliments and asking advice."

THE Queen of Roumania, in a recent address, said: "I shall always maintain that the active life of woman ought not to go beyond the sacred interior of her home, and that the voice of woman sounds nowhere so sweetly musical as on her own hearthstone, in the midst of her children."

VICTORIA ALEXANDRINA VIOLET is the luscious mouthful of names bestowed on Queen Victoria's latest grandchild, the Duke of Portland's baby. Besides the three-volume novel names the infant received a necklace of seed pearls with a diamond locket, and another mark of royal favor in a good grandmother's kiss.

THE Queen Dowager of Portugal, on one occasion brought home from Paris one thousand pairs of shoes. Subsequently she ordered no less than seventy dresses from Worth, to be delivered together, when their way home were lost at sea. Her Majesty, no way concerned, sent word to Worth to supply seventy duplicates, and these reached Lisbon safely.

EMPEROR WILLIAM has taken into his own hands the management of his private fortune, and it is asserted that a short time back he negotiated a loan of 200,000 marks, secured by a mortgage on a house in the Leipzigerstrasse in Berlin.

Before contemplating the purchase the Emperor visited the house several times, so as to be sure of his bargain. The loan was made out of the savings from the Emperor's private purse.

NEW ENGLAND MOTHERS.

The Types Presented in the Literature of the Present Day.

In direct contrast are the New England mothers of Mrs. Stowe—Mrs. Katy Scudder, with "faculty," and Mrs. Badger, who mothered every body, black and white, within a radius of fifty miles. Their personalities are like electric currents, clean and stimulating.

Mrs. Whitney is the portrayal of the mother of girls. "With Mrs. Holabird it was always a girl in her heart, since girls were girls never can quite lose the girl out of themselves." Mrs. Goldwaite, Mrs. Strong, Cousin Delight, Mrs. Gartney and Aunt Faith are fine examples of mothers after the flesh and spirit.

Howells, in "A Modern Instance," writes of a type possible only in this country. A silent effaced woman going into the kitchen when her daughter entered the sitting-room, and leaving her to manage the social affairs of the family. In these delineations of unfortunate actualities Howells explores a truth, some physiological ground or some spiritual struggle. The heroes and heroines, God help them, are incubated by man's invention, not brooded over by mother love. No wonder Hagar arises to plead for the blessings of barbarism and a return to nature, the mother of the race.—Harper's Bazar.

WOMEN AND MICE.

The reason why a woman is afraid of a mouse is a profound mystery. Indeed, it has never been very clearly proven that she is. But some women are constantly in such a nervous irritable condition that the slightest thing annoys and startles them. The cause of this unfortunate state of affairs is usually some functional derangement; some distressing or painful irregularity, some derangement or peculiar weakness of the organic system, or to other organic lesions peculiar to her sex. From whichever cause it may arise, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the sure remedy. It is a scientific result that its manufacturers sell it through druggists under a guarantee of its giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded. As a soothing and strengthening nerve tonic, it is a most valuable remedy for all the nervous symptoms attendant upon disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves anxiety and despondency.

OUR COLUMN.

These Are the Books

These books contain 480 pages; is eight and one-half inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. It is printed on extra heavy paper and is handsomely bound, with embossed cover and gilt-lettered back.

It is different from all other works ever published.

First—It teaches those who have it how to tell what the matter is when a person gets sick.

All similar books tell what to do if you know what the disease is. This book tells you HOW TO DETECT THE DISEASE, and then what to do for it.

No other Book Published does this.

Second—When a person is really attacked by a dangerous disease, it enables you to know the fact, and in such cases its advice is: "Send for a competent physician at once." But in all ordinary cases, such as can be easily cured, it gives full directions for treatment.

Third—It is not confined to the practice used by any one class of physicians; but it gives, separately, and for each disease, the methods used by each of the different schools of medicine, and in ALL CASES THE PRESCRIPTIONS ARE MADE BY THE MOST EMINENT MEN in their respective modes of practice. This makes the work specially suited to the needs of every family, no matter what medical school they prefer.

No other Book Published does this.
